

WHAT · WHEN · WHERE

"Fifty Years Ago" at the Greenwich Festival

The Age Exchange Theatre Company is pleased to announce at its first production as a professional company will be seen as part of the Greenwich Festival this year, thanks to grants from the GLC and Greenwich Arts Council.

Their Fifty Years Ago Show will be toured throughout the Borough of Greenwich during the Festival and will then go on tour round other London boroughs.

Some of the Festival dates are as follows:-

16th June, Kidbrooke House, Wycliffe Road at 2 pm.

17th June, John Roan Lower School, Westcombe Park Road, 11 am.

18th June, New Charlton Community Centre, 217 Maryon Road, S E 7 at 2.30 pm.

19th June, Sam Manners House, Walsingham Street, SE10, at 7.30 pm.

21st June 50 Vincent Road, Eltham, SE18 at 7.30 pm

22nd June, Charlton House, Charlton Village, at 2 pm (this

23rd June, Clockhouse Community Centre, Woolwich

Workyard, at 2 pm. (This is shown in the Festival programme for 22nd June - incorrectly)

The photograph used by Age Exchange for their "Fifty Years Ago Show" and typical of some of those lent by pensioners for the book.

24th June, Charlton House, at 2 pm.

The Show has been compiled as a result of conversations with and reminiscences of old age pensioners in Greenwich. In addition Age Exchange have published a book which is simply a collection of photographs and memorabilia interspersed with people's memories all from the 1930s. It has been well put together and makes compulsive reading - even if it is hard to realise how much life has changed in 50 years! The book, priced £2 (£1 for OAPs) will be on sale at performances.

BAKEHOUSE GALLERY

Gary Pierpoint is exhibiting at the Bakehouse Gallery from 5th - 18th June. He is a local artist who trained at Hornsey College of Art. His work is largely figurative and many of his subjects are based around Parisian-style cafe life.

From 20th June - 2nd July the Bakehouse Gallery will have an exhibition of work by Will Milne and Fred Gatley.